Dear Mr. Kathrada,

I so enjoyed reading your article 'My Hero, My Friend' in the Cape Argus - Friday 17th, because it gave me yet a further insight into the man - our President Nelson Mandela.

I have read so often of the amount of back-ground work which you did to ensure the word 'got out', and just recently I read Eddie Daniels' 'There and Back' where he praises you for your intelligence work and the risks you took to carry this out — truly one of the many unsung heroes.

Again my grateful thanks for what I thought was an excellent article.

Yours sincerely,

Desmond Sackel.

Dearest Kathy

Many, many thanks for the souvenir of Madiba's birthday. It is really nice.

I hope that you haven't pulled out all your hair by now and that you had some energy left to enjoy the birthday and wedding celebrations.

Lots of love to you and Barbara.

From both of us,

Cheryl

My dear Kamy,

Finally, through the labyrinths of the Independent corporation, your cheque has arrived and I enclose it with pleasure and thanks.

As I have said publicly and privately, I believe your pen-portrait of Madiba is a most important addition to our country's historical literature, and I am extremely proud to have been in a position to be its publisher. I hope the tremendous response it engendered will encourage you to complete your own full autobiography for the benefit of this and future generations.

Thank you again for working with us on the supplement. I hope this letter clears up all the 'housekeeping' issues (my colleague David Chambers assures me that your photographs were returned to you), and I would be grateful if you would acknowledge receipt of the attached cheque in payment for the essay and the photographs.

I hope we can collaborate on similarly important and enjoyable projects in the future. I also enclose, in case you haven't one, a copy of the British edition of my 1994 book, with Madiba's foreword.

Warm regards,

Shaun
