My dear Kathie

I hope and trust you are keeping well. A man of your age should start slowing down and taking life easy..... not like Madiba who is still running around!

When you are next in Pretoria or Johannesburg do give me a ring as I would like to see you in person. We have not met for a long time.

I gather you were in Sandton at the opening of Motani's new showroom, which was a posh affair.

I am enclosing herewith two copies of your "Memoirs". Would you be good enough to sign one book for Haroun and one book for Rooki and myself and return this to us at your earliest convenience. I hope I am not inconveniencing you in any way.

Rooki sends her love to you and your wife, whose name I have forgotten.

With Salaams and Duas

Dear Mr Kathrada

When your generous gift of R1000.00 arrived today, I was reminded of these words by Leo Buscaglia. Thank you for showing that you have a heart for the children at SOS Children's Villages.

It's compassion like yours, Mr Kathrada, that has made it possible for us to celebrate our 25th anniversary this year – a milestone which we have reached because people like you care.

In this day and age, children face many more challenges and threats than when I was young. But for orphaned and vulnerable little ones the path is even more difficult. Thankfully, we can give them a mom, brothers and sisters, and a place to call home ...

... a special place where they can grow up in safety, with confidence and the love and care they need to shine in life.

With your support and our Family Strengthening Programme, we will also continue to reach out to children in neighbouring communities, who have lost one or both of their parents. We aim to strengthen their families by providing food and practical assistance;
schooling and clothes for the children; and work opportunities, skills training and help in applying for childcare grants, for their caregivers.

And in this way, you're helping to enrich the lives of many more little ones. Thank you, once again, from all the children, and from me.

Yours sincerely

Dear Senator Kerry,

This is a letter of apology to you. I hope you will excuse me if I've transgressed any protocol by addressing my letter to you directly. I believe I have to explain to you personally the reasons for my failure to accompany you on your visit to Robben Island.

Being a former prisoner, I've had the privilege of being called upon to accompany a large number of dignitaries to the Island, including President Clinton, Mr. Al Gore, Senator Obama, etc. literally scores from the U.S. and other countries. I was contacted by the American Consulate to accompany you as well; they especially mentioned my having accompanied Senator Obama.

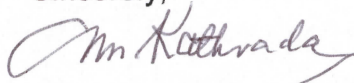

The Robben Island administration replied on my behalf that I would consider it an honour to accompany you. It was stated that I would be in Johannesburg at the time, but would gladly fly to Cape Town for the purpose. For this purpose I would require an Air Ticket to Cape Town, and return to Johannesburg. (This is not an unusual request). Our office was told that the Consulate could not afford to pay for a ticket.

My purpose is not to place the Consulate in a negative light. I have some experience in Government, and am able to understand the constraints under which Government Departments work. On the other hand I believe I owe you an apology.

We have competent tour guides who are employed by Robben Island, and I'm confident that you and your entourage will have an interesting visit.

Best wishes to you,

Sincerely,

Subject: One Last Try...

Dear Mr. Kathrada,

Per my message on your voicemail... I am writing once again because my producer has asked that I get in touch with you one more time and ask that you please, please, please reconsider participating in the this documentary! Though I have shared your reservations with all involved and we understand your hesitation, there is still great disappointment at the idea of not being able to include you.

In a nutshell, the concern is this: We have interviewed many historians and scholars who have provided an array of information about Smuts, as well as family members who offer personal opinions which are (naturally) quite positive. But we have not managed to interview anyone who can offer personal opinions about Smuts which are unfavorable. We all view Smuts as a complex figure who certainly made mistakes that did real harm to millions of people and we feel strongly that it failure to give voice to that would be a serious oversight. (It is one thing for a historian to point out that some of his policies were unfair by modern standards. It is quite another to hear someone describe how those policies affected him and his family and what it was like being a political prisoner under the Smuts government.) And as you can imagine, there are few people alive today who have any personal experience with Smuts and the energy to articulate that experience on camera. (Again, if you could recommend someone, I'd be much obliged, but until then, you are my most qualified candidate!)

I can't offer you too many incentives beyond what we have already discussed, but I have requested the following from Lucasfilm:

1) I've asked that the producer narrow the focus of what he would like you to speak about to an absolute minimum amount of subject matter which you feel comfortable with -- e.g. what it was like for you and your parents to live under the Smuts government and how, in general, the segregationist policies of the time impacted you. This would hopefully address your concerns about bearing too much responsibility for speaking about subjects you are not entire comfortable with, while also keeping your time commitment to a minimum.

2) I have asked that an exception be made so that we can offer you an honorarium for your time and this request has already been forwarded to our executive producer. This is highly unusual and I've no idea if the request will be granted, but I've argued that an exception should be made because this practice is more common and in accordance with journalistic ethics in South Africa, and I hope that those at the top will agree.

3) One of the producers in the U.S. would like to speak to you personally (if that is alright with you) in hopes of clarifying a role for you in the film that you feel most comfortable with. I thought I'd ask you first before I give out your phone number, particularly since he/she would have to phone you either early in the morning or after 5pm because of the time change. Would you mind?

Once again, my apologies for being so persistent! Please share your thoughts on this or let me know when/where I can reach you by phone to discuss. Last but not least, I am curious to know whether you are still in Jo'burg and if so, when you plan to return to Cape Town.

Thanks and warm regards,

Subject: Jan Smuts Documentary Interview

Dear Mr. Kathrada,

My apologies for taking so long to follow-up on last week's conversation. I've just returned from a film shoot in rural Kwa-Zulu Natal and have been without e-mail for 8 days!

Per our phone conversation, I am writing to formally inquire about possibly interviewing you for a documentary biography of Jan Smuts, which I am helping to produce for Lucasfilm, Ltd. and Paramount Pictures. The piece will examine not only Smuts' life, but also significant political events of his time. More specifically, we hope that this piece will help lead to a greater understanding of the roots of Apartheid in South Africa. It is our belief that while many have heard the story of the Struggle against Apartheid, many international audiences are aware of the missteps that led to its creation. Thus, in telling this story, we hope to impart some valuable historical lessons.

My interest in your participation stems from the fact that you are not only a political activist and historian of note, but also (so I am told) passionate in your views against Smuts. While I have interviewed several historians for this piece, I am still lacking a spirited and critical voice like yours and am hoping that you will help me to fill that gap.

The goal for this interview would be to discuss the following:

- Significant events and policies regarding race in South Africa from 1900 to 1950
- the failings of Smuts' policies and the negative impact they had on "non-whites"
- your own opinions as to whether and how Smuts could have prevented the coming of full-scale apartheid to South Africa
- a brief summation of contemporary efforts to undo the mistakes of the past and work toward reconciliation and integration in South Africa.

By way of background, this documentary is part of an ambitious series of documentaries Lucasfilm is producing in conjunction with the future DVD release of the Young Indiana Jones Chronicles, a program that aired on U.S. television some years ago. The twenty-two episodes of the series placed Young Indy in the middle of some of the most important events of the early 20th century, crossing paths with historical figures and grappling with significant ideas of the time. We are currently creating one hundred companion documentaries that profile the historical figures, events, and subjects that surface in each episode. This is an educational project at heart – Mr. Lucas' intended goal is to spark young minds to become interested in history and culture.

The challenge of distilling a complex and controversial character like Jan Smuts into a story that is easily understood by an introductory audience is formidable. Your first hand experience, expertise and guidance could play a pivotal role in shaping the piece. We hope that our goal of reaching young minds and sparking discussion about this still relevant subject would be in line with your interests.

I would need about 1 hour of your time and would like to schedule the interview sometime during the first two weeks of July, if your schedule will allow. Our location would be in Cape Town. If it suits your convenience, we might even be able to shoot in your home.

6/30/2005

I look forward to getting your insights and answering any questions that you might have. To that end, I can be reached by phone at 072-785-1093 or via E-mail at kp@kppix.com.

I thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Kathrada,

Thank you so much for making time to speak with us about participating in our documentary on Jan Smuts and the impact of his government on Twentieth century South Africa. As I understand from Kristin Pichaske, you have some concerns about commenting on Smuts as an individual. Let me reassure you that we do not intend for this film to be merely a standard biography, but instead are seeking to shed light on how the decisions and attitudes of Smuts' government laid the groundwork for Apartheid and thus impacted the lives of the Coloured and African peoples of South Africa. This is why we feel it to be so crucial to secure your participation.

We want to make sure that our film includes a critical and personal perspective on Smuts' government from someone who experienced its discrimination directly and strove to resist what became Apartheid in later years. Adding your voice to this piece, we feel, would greatly enhance the audience's understanding of the experience of those who suffered under Smuts' government as well as increase the social significance of this film. Either Adam Sternberg, the film's Producer, or I will give you a call tomorrow morning around 7:30am California time, which is when Kristin said you could be reached. Thank you again for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Lisa Clark

Dear Ahmed

Thank you so much for your good wishes on the occasion of my 90th birthday, and do forgive me for taking a while to reply. What was to be a small party of family and close friends turned out to be a large gathering of some 300 people! But I think a good time was had by all, particularly as many of them had not seen each other for such a long time.

Indres, our dear friend and comrade,

I wish we were able to be present to celebrate your 70th birthday. As I explained to Gabie, I have a long-standing commitment to be a co-host at a function of the Amy Biehl Foundation on the same evening, and Barbara's commitment is in Johannesburg. However, both of us will be thinking of you while you are celebrating.

It always fills me with humility and pride when I think of the Naidoo family. Through all the deprivations, the hardships and suffering you and all members of the family have held high the proud and courageous tradition of Thumbi Naidoo, and of our struggle.

I recall our days in the Youth Congress, and all the Congress activities in which we participated. Whether it was putting up posters, distributing leaflets, writing slogans on the walls, selling "New Age", going house-to-house collecting signatures or organising, you were always there. It was therefore not surprising --indeed it was only to be expected when MK was formed, that you would be among the first to be recruited. And among the very first MK cadres to be sentenced and sent to Robben Island.

I remember the night of your arrest while attempting to blow up a signal box. together with Shirish Nanabhai and Reggie Vandeyar. Isu Chiba and Abdulhay Jassat were arrested the same night. Throughout the rest of the night the phone in my flat never stopped ringing. Phone calls from all the anxious families. From Rocky Street I was shocked to learn that you had been brought home under police escort, still bleeding from the gun shot wounds inflicted by the brute, Swanepoel..

I never felt so helpless as I did that night. Instinctively I thought I should break my house-arrest-order, and rush out to the families to console and assure them that we will render whatever help we could. But I decided to wait until 7 a.m., when I was allowed to leave the flat.

Immediately after 7 I dashed out to our lawyers, telling them of the brutal assaults, and the gun shot wound. They sprang into action. Lawyer Jimmy Kantor was well-known for the high regard in which he was held by police, prosecutors and magistrates alike. But for once his influence did not work. In defiance of the law, the security police refused to allow him access to you and your comrades. Then we turned to the one and only, the legendary Babla. He had the knack of accomplishing the seemingly impossible Quarter gave Babla what he requested to penetrate Marshall Square.--toiletries, towels, toiletries, food, fruit, and most important of all - money. The next thing; mission accomplished!. Babla had gone to Marshall Square pretending to be a lawyer. He came back after seeing all of you, and with the necessary information.

After 48 hours you appeared in Court. I saw you guys in Court and will never forget the way you looked. All of you had been severely tortured, some unrecognisable.

Then followed your 10 years on Robben Island, 10 years during which you and the other comrades continued to resist any attempts to humiliate you, and any thing that would infringe on your dignity.

For protecting your dignity against unacceptable orders, you were given lashes. You did not cry out. You made us walk tall. We were tremendously inspired; we knew that with comrades like you the struggle could never be defeated. We were proud.

The rest is history.

Indres - dear friend and comrade. We salute you on your 70th birthday. May you see many more.

2006/09/04

This memorable occasion cannot be complete, if we fail to pay our respects and tribute to our friend, and your dear companion - Gabi. She has been a real pillar of strength.

Our very best wishes Indres, our dear friend and comrade.

With affection and admiration,

Kathy and Barbara.

Dear Mrs. Motlana,

It is with deep sadness that I received the news of Nthato's passing. Although we had been aware for some weeks of the rapid deterioration of his health, who could imagine that his demise would come so soon. One hoped and prayed that by some miracle he will be with us for a long time. But alas, this was not to be.

Nthato and I came to know each other since the early fifties, when he was Secretary of the ANC Youth League, and I was Chairperson of the Indian Youth Congress. As a result of the activities of these organizations in the Defiance Campaign of 1952, Nthato and I found ourselves among the 20 accused who were found guilty under the Suppression of Communism Act, and given suspended sentences. He was still a medical Student at the time. Our co-accused included Madiba, Walter Sisulu, Dr. Yusuf Dadoo, the late Diliza Mji and others.

It was only a few months ago that Madiba invited the survivors of the 3 major political trials of the 50's and 60's to a Reunion. Nthato and I reminisced about the old days. I used to tease him about his language in some of his speeches that police witnesses testified about. (I notice that Madiba referred to this yesterday.) I remember how Nthato used to laugh about this.

I always met Nthato at Board meetings of the Mandela Foundation. Often, after these meetings, he and I used to have our little chats. I will miss those.

We were both surprised when we counted that only 3 of us, of the 20 accused were still alive! I never thought then that within une une uly uly

such a short time thereafter, he would be taken away from us.

All of us who knew Nthato, and the countless numbers who did not know him, will share your grief, and the grief of your family. I will always remember him as a warm, caring, smiling, easy-going, and dedicated person. He is a great loss.

Keep strong. We will always be grateful for the opportunity of knowing him, as his comrades, and his friends. We are proud of him.

Sincerely,

A.M. Kathrada.

Subject: Greetings -- and visit!

Dear Kathy,

Such a long time since we last saw you! Hope that you and Barbara are doing well, and that the current state of affairs does not have you too depressed. It is devastating. Nonetheless, we maintain that it is one more piece of evidence that the struggle is not over, and that the structural violence built into South Africa's economy over centuries continues to be deeply rooted. We do the work we do to chip away at it, and understand what is at stake. Everything.

That said, as we continue to build our base of political and economic support for this work, we are bringing another delegation to South Africa in August, and would absolutely love it if you were able to accompany us to Robben Island. According to the schedule, we would visit the Island the morning of Saturday, August 30. Is there any possibility that you could join us? It would mean so much to us all. It is always the piece of the trip the everyone - hands down - says affected them most.

Thanks for letting me know, Kathy. (As always, Clive Newman is preparing our logistics in South Africa...if you are up for doing this, I'll ask Clive to work out the details.)

29 October 2

To Ahmed Kathrada and Barbara Hogan

You have been given the opportunity to invest in me a mature, highly motivated and responsible individual.

In our previous, brief encounters I have greatly explained the circumstances of my living conditions. However with much thought and hardwork I have found a solution.

It was Monday, the 27 October that I was alerted about an open vacancy available as of next week by my cousin. I was invited to view the apartment, which consists of four bedrooms, a kitchen, lounge, bathroom and a large balcony. My cousin has decided to take a lease of a year. The current tenants are moving out as of tomorrow, and I fell in love with it.

I am currently working at a boutique in long street called Journey lifestyle. However due to my exams at the moment I have been put on leave. I would like you guys to invest in my deposit of R2000. I have made a financial plan to pay you guys over a period of eight months. That comes to R250 per month, starting from December 2008 - July 2009.

I was invited to view the apartment, which consists of four bedrooms, a kitchen, lounge, bathroom and a large balcony. My cousin has decided to take a lease of a year. The current tenants are moving out as of tomorrow, and I fell in love with it.

I am currently working at a boutique in long street called Journey lifestyle. However due to my exams at the moment I have been put on leave. I would like you guys to invest in my deposit of R2000. I have made a financial plan to pay you guys over a period of eight months. That comes to R250 per month, starting from December 2008 - July 2009.

Now you may be asking, How is Linda going to afford to live on her own? I already working at the boutique part-time. I just must increase my working hours.

I get a standard of R120 only a day and currently I work 5 days a month. However we also work on commission. My hours will increase, getting more days to work.

My rent will be R1000

food R500

loan R250 (you guys)

= R1750 of my monthly expenses

Advantages:

It is in Mobray (Next year I am attending at UCT) shuttle stop is 10-15 minutes away

- Realistic and affordable. I can't get a better deal anywhere else.
- I get my own room (own privacy)
- less noise. (for studying purposes)
- It is great responsibility teaching me to grow up.
- I want to give mom her own space.

What I possess so far:

A lamp and single bed.

I'd like to apologise as I think that this is rather short notice but it was very unexpected for me.

I do believe that I should grab this opportunity and it would be great if you guys could be a part of it.

I want you guys to be apart of watching me grow up and becoming a woman.

As soon as we get the contract I will make you a copy. However it would be awesome to speak to you guys before then.
